

How is an MLM company different than a Traditional company?

MLM Company

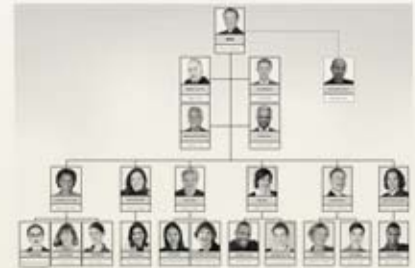

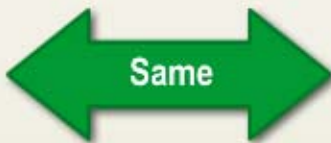

Large office building

Traditional Company

President, VPs, Middle Managers and staff

Ordinary people like me and you who sell the product and find others to do the same.

Where the company spends $50 million advertising their product

The only major difference between MLM companies and traditional companies is that MLM companies pay ordinary people [like me and you] to promote their products and services, instead of paying celebrities.